Welcome to the department of law at the University of Bielefeld

In the department of law there are different possibilities for students from abroad. It is possible to study law with a classic degree of „Staatsexamen“ but also the LL.M (Master of law) as an additional qualification to the „Staatsexamen“. In addition there is the possibility of a participation in a german language course. Furthermore we provide the Bachelor of „Law and Management“.

Please notice that all these possibilities are only offered in german language. English speaking studies are not offered at our department.

Start your studies

You have not studied abroad yet and would like to study law at the University of Bielefeld with the aim, “Staatsexamen” or the Bachelor of “Law and Management”?

Possibilites for an additional qualification

You have finished your studies abroad and are looking for an additional qualification for your homecountry?

The LL.M. (Legum Magister) is an additional qualification for students with a degree of law from abroad. This qualification can only be used in your home country but it does not give you access to a qualified profession like lawyer or judge in Germany.

You can find the regularity and contents of the LL.M. on the following homepage:
http://www.jura.uni-bielefeld.de/angebote/dokumente_ordnungen/ordnung_legum_magister

Please notice the following requirements for the LL.M:
You need a completion of legal studies at a foreign university equivalent to a german law degree (State exam). In addition it is necessary to master german language (spoken and written).

The required proofs are to be submitted as an legalized translation (german or english) to the department assistant Ms. Groß. Your documents are then being checked by the student office of the University of Bielefeld.

You can find the necessary application forms on the following homepage:
http://www.jura.uni-bielefeld.de/angebote/studienberatung/Studierende_aus_dem_Ausland/

If you are only missing the language qualification there is a possibility for a german language course at the University.

If you pass the course successfully you can start the LL.M.

The international office can help you with all the questions regarding the language course or language requirements.

Please notice there is a tuition fee for the LL.M.
